About the Faculty

An interdisciplinary program where you explore cultures, societies, and global challenges —and connect learning with real communities in Japan and beyond.

What you will study

Intercultural Studies

Understand how cultures, identities, and values shape the way people interact in diverse societies.

Global & Regional Studies

Examine global issues and regional dynamics through real cases and international perspectives.

Japanese Language Classes

Develop the Japanese linguistic ability in small classes (5 to 10 students per class), with 6 lessons per week. Learn Japanese through reading, writing, listening, speaking, grammar, and kanji for solid communication skills.

Japanese Traditional Culture Practicum

Experience Japanese cultural heritage through hands-on participation in traditional arts and practices.

Experiential Learning

Learn through community engagement and reflective activities that connect theory with practice.
